Amendment to the proposal for a Council Directive to co-ordinate the laws of the Member States relating to (self-employed) commercial agents

(submitted to the Council by the Commission pursuant to the second paragraph of Article 149 of the EEC Treaty)

COM(78) 773 final.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

I. INTRODUCTION

Both the European Parliament and the Economic and Social Committee have issued their Opinions on the Proposal for a Council Directive to co-ordinate the laws of the Member States relating to (self-employed) commercial agents, which was presented by the Commission to the Council on 17 December 1976⁽¹⁾. In order to take account of these Opinions the Commission has amended its Proposal for a Directive pursuant to paragraph two of Article 149 of the EEC Treaty.

The Opinions of the European Parliament and of the Economic and Social Committee express similar views. While recognising the need to give real protection to commercial agents, both Opinions were critical of the lack of flexibility of the Proposal for a Directive and the excessive burdens which some of its provisions would have imposed upon the principal. Too much protection could well be detrimental to commercial agents if principals ceased to use them because they had become too expensive. In addition, small and medium-sized businesses might be seriously impeded in their attempts to develop their markets.

In amending its Proposal the Commission has taken account of these Opinions to the fullest extent compatible with the necessary protection of the commercial agent. Using those Opinions as a basis the Commission has made amendments both of substance and of drafting to its original Proposal. Further amendments may be made later.

II. COMMENTARY ON THE ARTICLES

Article 2

Reflecting the Opinion of the EP the last sentence indicates clearly that the commercial agent acts independently. The same point is made in Article 5(2)(f).

Article 3

As requested by the EP the Directive will not apply to part-time commercial agents concerned mainly with mail-order sales. This exclusion is intended to cover particularly those agents who collect group orders. Very often these agents are married women with families. The Commission has also excluded all other part-time agents. Most part-time agents are involved in the mail-order trade and in point of fact there is no reason to treat the others any differently, particularly as their activities are of limited scope and do not normally extend beyond their own national market. No definition is given of "part-time", for practice varies from country to country. Accordingly the amended Proposal mentions specifically the practice prevailing in the State in which the intermediary habitually carries on his activities; thus it adopts a direct connecting factor.

The Commission does not, however, agree with the EP that agents in the aviation sector should be excluded from the scope of application of the Directive. It was explained during various meetings that the exclusion would relate to the sale of airline tickets by travel agencies ⁽¹⁾. The modifications to the original text having reestablished greater freedom of contract (see article 35 in particular), the exclusion of this activity is no longer justified.

Article 4

The first paragraph has been deleted in view of the fact that Article 3 has been amended.

Article 5

In the second paragraph the new provision in subparagraph (a) deals with one of the most important obligations of the agent, as requested by the EP. In subparagraph (b) the words "at all times" have been deleted. They added nothing to the text; nor would the expression "in good time", which was suggested by the ESC. Subparagraph (d) has been changed in some of the language versions to make clear, in accordance with the wish of the ESC, that the obligation is to keep proper accounts.

Article 6

As desired by the EP and ESC, the divulging of business secrets is not permissible in any circumstances; but they may be turned to account in certain circumstances.

Article 7

Paragraph three has been deleted as Article 7 is not mandatory (see Article 35).

Article 8

Paragraph three has been added at the request of the EP to enable the principal to intervene in the action.

Article 10

A drafting improvement suggested by the EP has been adopted in paragraph 2(b).

Article 11

In accordance with the wish of the EP, part of the remuneration may be satisfied in kind. In other respects the drafting of the Article has been improved.

Article 12

Subparagraph (b) of the first paragraph provides that where the transaction is concluded with a third party by a person other than the agent, the agent is entitled to commission provided the third party was previously acquired as a client by the agent for transactions of the same kind. This should meet the wishes of the EP and of the ESC.

Article 13

As regards transactions which are entered into after the contract of agency has come to an end, the agent is entitled to commission if the preparatory work was done by him and the transaction was entered into within a reasonable period after the contract came to an end. To make it quite clear that the second condition applies to each of the two preceding situations the matter is contained in a paragraph of its own (paragraph two).

As requested by the EP the text now provides that the parties are free to fix the period themselves, provided, of course, that it is reasonable.

Article 15

The EP preferred that in paragraph two(b) the commission should be expressed to be due if the third party fulfilled his obligations under the contract (in place of the original wording "..... the third party has performed his part of the transaction.").

The third paragraph should deal with the case where the principal and the third party have failed to perform the whole of their parts of the contract, not the case where either one or other of them has failed to perform his part.

The fourth paragraph has now been split up into three subparagraphs and these are set out in the sequence requested by the EP.

The fifth paragraph has been transferred to Article 18(1).

Article 16

There is a drafting change which is due to the amendments made in Article 5. (See Article 16(1)(a)).

Article 17

The words "Unless otherwise agreed" have been deleted, for this Article is not mandatory as between the parties (see Article 35).

Article 18

Paragraph one now consists of the former paragraph five taken from Article 15. This gives effect to the EP's wish that Article 18 should contain all the provisions dealing with the agent's right to be supplied by the principal with full information concerning the amount of commission due to him. Paragraph three had to be adapted because paragraph one, which is new, has been inserted. In addition, the provisions on confidentiality of business secrets have been extended to cover the cases dealt with in paragraph two as well as those in paragraph three. This reflects the wishes of the EP.

Article 19

The ESC requested that this Article be recast. This has been done and the Article now deals with the case where the agent's activities are limited as a result of the principal's conduct. Paragraph one now speaks of the agent's right to indemnity, not to his entitlement to remuneration.

Paragraphs two and three have been amended so as to make provision for the amount of the indemnity to be calculated.

Article 21

The EP preferred that this Article be deleted. The amended text of paragraph two is based on the text proposed by the Legal Affairs Committee of the EP. At the end of the third paragraph it is now specified that the separate commission to which the agent is entitled shall become due at the time when the relevant transactions are agreed upon.

Article 22

As requested by the EP and ESC this Article has been deleted. It is considered to be inconsistent with the position of the agent as a self-employed person that he should, in the insolvency of the principal, or in the event of levy of execution or assignment of debts, be treated as if he were an employee.

Article 25

This Article is not included in the list of mandatory provisions set out in Article 35. Accordingly the words "Unless otherwise agreed" have been deleted.

Article 26

To reflect the wishes of the EP and ESC, paragraph two provides for shorter periods of notice. The Member States are, however, free to provide for maximum periods of notice in relation to contracts which run for a long time. The EP considered that the minimum period of notice should be three months for contracts which run for more than four years. The Commission takes the view that this is too short for long-term contracts. The minimum period now provided for is of six months in relation to contracts which run for more than ten years.

Article 27

In certain circumstances the parties have the right to terminate with immediate effect. Paragraph one (a) now takes account of the views of the EP and ESC by providing that the contract may be terminated not only because of some serious fault on the part of the other party but also because he behaves in such a way that his conduct is seriously inconsistent with his obligations under the contract.

Article 29

As requested by the EP, paragraph two now contains a further obligation on the part of the agent, namely that when exercising his right of lien he shall maintain the principal's movables and other property in good condition.

Article 30

Paragraphs two, three and four, which deal with the goodwill indemnity and specify the conditions in which it arises, have been amended so as to take into account the wish of the EP and ESC that the burden imposed upon the principal when the contract comes to an end should be reduced.

In paragraph two the provision relating to one-tenth of the annual remuneration for each year of the life of the contract is now no longer a minimum. The "one-tenth" provision will apply in normal circumstances. The second sentence of paragraph three permits of derogations from that method in certain cases.

In paragraph three the maximum amount of the indemnity has been reduced from two to one year's average annual remuneration.

Paragraph four now provides that the agent is not entitled to any indemnity if he terminates the contract without valid reason. The original Proposal would have allowed him the indemnity if he terminated within the prescribed periods.

Article 31

Subparagraph (c) has been deleted in consequence of the amendment of paragraph four of Article 30.

Article 32

As requested by the ESC a new paragraph seven has been added to deal with the principal's right to be paid damages where the agent acts in breach of the agreement restricting competition.

Article 33

This Article indicates the cases in which the parties can derogate from certain provisions of the Directive. It now further permits derogation where a company has an annual turnover in excess of 500.000 EUA. The EP took the view, and is no doubt right, that in such cases the agent's economic position should not necessarily attract the full range of protection contemplated by the Directive.

Article 34

In paragraph one the limitation period is reduced from four to three years. This gives effect to the EP's view that the parties should not be under obligation to conserve means of proof for too long a period of time.

Paragraph two has been retained notwithstanding the ESC's view to the contrary. However, for the reasons set out above, the relevant period has been reduced from ten to five years.

Article 35

This Article lists the provisions from which the parties are not allowed to derogate if the derogation is detrimental to the agent. The ESC considered that this Article "is of fundamental importance" because it "determines how far the parties can carry the principle of freedom of contract in commercial agency contracts".

The EP considered that the list was too long and "makes the Directive too inflexible". The list has accordingly been shortened so as to allow greater flexibility. Eleven provisions which were compulsory are no longer included among the compulsory provisions and one provision (Article 24) has been included so as to avoid any misunderstanding. It may be that the extent of the reduction will be thought insufficient but it should be borne in mind that any increase in the extent to which freedom of contract is allowed must have the effect of curtailing the protection available to the agent.

The list contained in Article 35 does not now include certain Articles which give expression to fundamental principles of law e.g. Article 5(1) and Article 10(1). Each party must observe these fundamental principles; breach of them is in any event penalised in national law.

Article 36

This Article deals with the bringing into operation of the Directive by the Member States. It adopts the wording used in other Proposals for Directives. The new wording avoids the problems which may have arisen as a result of setting fixed dates.

In paragraph one, to make the meaning clearer, words have been added to the effect that the new national laws adopted in this field will apply immediately to contracts which are current at the time when those laws enter into operation. This is considered desirable from the point of view of the agent.

COMMISSION

Amendment to the proposal for a Council Directive to coordinate the laws of the Member States relating to (self-employed) commercial agents⁽¹⁾

(Submitted by the Commission to the Council pursuant to Article 149 (2) of the EEC Treaty on 29 January 1979)

ORIGINAL PROPOSAL

AMENDED PROPOSAL

THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITIES,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Economic Community, and in particular Articles 57 (2) and 100 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Parliament,

Having regard to the opinion of the Economic and Social Committee,

Whereas the restrictions on freedom of establishment and freedom to provide services in respect of activities of intermediaries in commerce, industry and small craft industries were abolished by Council Directive 64/224/EEC of 25 February 1964⁽²⁾;

Whereas the differences in national laws concerning commercial representation substantially affect the conditions of competition and the carrying on of that activity within the Community and are detrimental both to the protection available to commercial agents vis-à-vis their principals and to the security of commercial transactions; whereas, moreover, those differences are such as to inhibit substantially the conclusion and operation of commercial representation contracts where principal and commercial agent are established in different Member States;

Whereas trade in goods between Member States should be carried on under conditions which are similar to those of a single market, and this necessitates approximation of the legal systems of the Member States to the extent required for the proper functioning of the common market; whereas in this regard the rules concerning conflict of laws do not, in the matter of commercial representation, remove the inconsistencies referred to above, nor would they even if they were made uniform, and accordingly, the proposed harmonization is necessary notwithstanding the existence of those rules;

Whereas in this matter the legal relationship between commercial agent and principal must be given priority of treatment;

Whereas in many cases commercial agents are as a rule, though in differing degrees, economically in a weak position vis-à-vis their principals, and it is accordingly appropriate that in harmonizing and improving the minimum rules in the laws of the Member States relating to commercial agents there be alignment upon the principles set out in Article 117 of the EEC Treaty,

HAS ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

CHAPTER I

Scope of application

Article 1

1. The harmonization measures prescribed by this Directive apply to the laws, regulations and administrative provisions of the Member States governing the relations between self-employed commercial agents and their principals.

2. National laws and trade usages which are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Directive shall continue to apply to the relations referred to in paragraph 1.

Article 2

For the purposes of this Directive the expression 'commercial agent' means a self-employed intermediary who has continuing authority for a fixed or indeterminate period to negotiate and/or to conclude an unlimited number of commercial transactions in the name and for account of another person (who is hereinafter called 'the principal').

Article 11

1. The principal shall remunerate the commercial agent by paying him commission or a fixed sum or both. Any variable item of remuneration which is calculated by reference to turnover shall be deemed to be commission.

2. The amount of commission shall be agreed between the parties. 2. The commercial agent shall not be entitled to the commission referred to in paragraph 1 if by virtue of Article 13 that commission is payable to another agent.

Article 13

The commercial agent shall be entitled to commission on commercial transactions entered into after the contract has come to an end:

- (a) where the transaction was negotiated by him; or
- (b) where, the preparatory work having been done by him, the transaction was entered into mainly as a result of his efforts during the currency of the contract; in these cases, however, he shall be entitled to commission only if the transaction was entered into within a reasonable period after the contract came to an end, a 'reasonable period' being one which is proportionate to the type of transaction in question and to the volume thereof.

Article 14

 - (b) as soon as and to the extent that the third party has performed his part of the transaction.
3. If the principal or the third party fails to perform his part of the transaction in full the amount of commission due shall be calculated by reference to the value of that part performed whose value is the higher.
4. The parties may agree that so long as the third party has not performed his obligations the commission shall be payable at a later time than that provided for in subparagraph (a) of paragraph 2 above. The commission shall, however, be payable in all cases not later than the last day of the third month following the month during which the principal completed the performance of his part of the contract. Where the parties agree as aforesaid the agent shall be entitled to receive a payment on account, of suitable amount, not later than the last day of the month following the month during which the principal completed the performance of his part of the contract.

- (a) Unchanged
 - (b) as soon as and to the extent that the client has fulfilled the obligations laid down in the contract.
3. If the principal and the third party have failed to perform their respective obligations in full, the amount of commission due shall be calculated by reference to the value of that part performed whose value is the greater.
4. (a) The parties may agree that so long as the third party has not performed his obligations the commission shall not become due until a later time than that provided for in subparagraph (a) of paragraph 2 above.
- (b) Where the parties agree as aforesaid, the agent shall be entitled to receive a payment on account, of suitable amount, not later than the last day of the month following the month during which the principal completed the performance of his part of the contract.
- (c) The commission shall, however, in any eventuality become due, at the latest, on the last day of the third month following the month during which the principal completed the performance of his part of the contract.
- 5 Transferred to Article 18 (1).

Article 16

1. The right to commission shall be extinguished:

2. Any commission which the commercial agent has already received for these commercial transactions shall be refunded.

Article 17

Unless otherwise agreed commission shall be calculated on the gross amount of the invoice without deduction of cash discounts, fidelity rebates or reductions allowed unilaterally by the principal after entry into the commercial transaction, and without deduction of incidental expenses such as costs of transport, packaging, insurance, taxes and customs charges, unless these incidental expenses are invoiced separately to the customer.

Article 18

1. The commercial agent shall be entitled to be supplied with all necessary extracts from the copies of the principal's books of account, together with explanations thereof, to enable him to check the amounts of commission to which he is entitled. Article 6 shall apply mutatis mutandis.
2. If there exist proper grounds for thinking that the items referred to in paragraph 1 which the principal has supplied are incorrect or incomplete, or if the principal refuses to supply them, the agent shall be entitled to require that either the agent himself or some person designated by the agent (being a person qualified for that purpose in accordance with the requirements of the national law applicable in the State where the books of account are kept), at the option of the principal, be given access to the books of account and the accounting documents for the purpose of examining them. This right may be exercised to the extent necessary for checking the correctness or completeness of the commission statement or of the said items.

AMENDED PROPOSAL

- (b) if and to the extent that it has become impossible to perform the transaction, this being in no way attributable to the principal; or

Article 27

1. Either party may terminate the contract at any time:

1. Either party may terminate the contract at any time:

(a) where the other party has in relation to the contract committed a fault such that the party who terminates cannot be required to keep it in being until the end of the period of notice or until the end of its agreed period of duration; or

(a) where the other party has in relation to the contract conducted himself in a manner which is seriously inconsistent with his obligations, or has in relation to the contract committed a serious fault, with the result that the party who terminate cannot be required to keep it in being until the end of the period of notice or until the end of its agreed period of duration; or

(b) where some circumstance arises which makes it impossible to perform the contract, or which seriously prejudices its performance, or which substantially undermines the commercial basis of the contract, so that the party who terminates cannot be required to keep it in being until the end of the period of notice or until the end of its agreed period of duration.

(b) Unchanged

2. Termination must be effected vis-à-vis the other party as soon as the fault becomes known or as soon as the events which justify termination have occurred. The party who terminates shall upon request of the other inform him in writing of the reasons therefor.

2. Unchanged

3. Where the contract is terminated under paragraph 1 (a) the party who is at fault shall be liable in damages to the other.

Article 28

1. Where one of the parties terminates the contract or declares that it is at an end, without in either case observing the proper period of notice provided for by the contract or by law, and neither of the grounds for termination set out in Article 27 applies, that party shall be liable in damages to the other.

Unchanged

2. In the cases referred to in paragraph 1 the commercial agent shall be entitled to claim a lump-sum indemnity in lieu of damages where the contract is terminated by the principal or declared by him to be at an end. The indemnity shall be calculated on the basis of the average remuneration paid to the agent during the period of 12 months preceding the declaration or termination. If the contract was concluded less than 12 months previously the indemnity shall be calculated on the basis of the average remuneration received during the currency of the contract up to the time when the relevant event took place. The indemnity shall be paid for the unexpired period of the contract but subject to a maximum period of two years.

Article 29

1. Upon cessation of the contract the commercial agent shall deliver up to the principal the materials and documents referred to in Article 10 (2) unless he has disposed of them in the normal course of business.

2. To secure the rights of the commercial agent as regards remuneration and reimbursement of expenses, he shall have a lien over such movables and other property of the principal as are in his possession pursuant to the contract, which lien shall continue after cessation of the contract.

Article 30

1. After cessation of the contract the commercial agent or his heirs shall be entitled to require payment by the principal of a goodwill indemnity:

- (a) where the agent has brought new customers to the principal or has appreciably increased the volume of business with the existing customers; and
- (b) where as a result thereof substantial benefits will continue to accrue to the principal; and
- (c) where, notwithstanding Article 13, the cessation of the contract results in his not receiving remuneration for transactions negotiated or agreed, after the contract has come to an end, between the principal and the customers referred to in subparagraph (a) above.

2. The goodwill indemnity shall be reasonable in amount having regard to all the circumstances. It shall be equal to not less than one-tenth of the annual remuneration calculated on the basis of the average remuneration during the preceding five years, including transactions on which commission arises under Article 13, multiplied by the number of years for which the contract has been in existence. If the contract was concluded less than five years previously the indemnity shall be calculated on the average remuneration received during the period which has actually run.

4. Where the agent terminates the contract by notice the period of which is consistent with the period of notice required by the contract or by law, he shall be entitled to an indemnity not exceeding the amount provided for in paragraph 2. If such termination is justified having regard to the principal's conduct, or for reasons which are particular to the agent, such that the agent cannot be required to continue his activities, the indemnity may be fixed at the maximum amount provided for in paragraph 3 if this is equitable.

5. The right to goodwill indemnity shall not by prior agreement be contracted out of or restricted. It may be exercised only during the period of three months following cessation of the contract.

6. The right to indemnity provided for in Article 28 shall not affect the right to goodwill indemnity.

Article 31

No claim to goodwill indemnity shall arise:

- (a) where the principal terminates or could have terminated the contract under Article 27 (1) (a),
- (b) where the principal maintains the contract on foot with the agent's successor who was introduced by the agent himself or by his heirs, the successor being from the legal point of view substituted entirely in the place of the agent,
- (c) where the agent terminates the contract without giving notice of the proper duration required by the contract or by law and without proper grounds under Article 27 (1).

Article 32

1. Any agreement restricting the business activities of the commercial agent following cessation of the contract shall be in writing, and in default thereof shall be void. This type of agreement is hereinafter referred to as an agreement restricting competition.
